

Former AT&T Site RFQ Question

In response to the Request for Qualifications issued for the Former AT&T site, the following question was raised outside of the tours/meetings, (The questions and discussions raised during the three tours/meetings have been summarized posted separately.)

Question: Who will have the final design authority for the AT&T, the Agency or the Design Review Board?

Answer: Redevelopment of the AT&T Building goes to the Design Review Board for review and advice to the Agency and to the Redevelopment Agency Board for ultimate approval of the design.