This unbiased, independent resource is FREE to Sonoma County residents, thanks to a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy

The City of Santa Rosa and Solar Sonoma County are excited to bring Sonoma County residents the Clean Energy Advocate (CEA), an unbiased, independent resource available to assist homeowners in navigating the renewable energy, energy efficiency, and water efficiency upgrade process. The CEA program can help you find local qualified contractors, locate rebates, incentives and financing for your energy efficiency upgrades, and help you identify ways to save energy in your home.
