

Stone Farm Timeline

- 1868- Harrison Valentine purchased 320 acres, including Stone Farm.
- 1870- Valentine's widow sold property to John Morrison.
- 1872- Morrison obtained a $4,900 loan, probably for construction of the house.
Estimated date of construction is 1872, making this one of the oldest extant farm complexes in the Hall School District.
- 1879- The property was purchased by Alexander Frazier.
- 1890- The property was purchased by William Hill Company.
- 1910- Annabelle Lagomarsino lived there with her mother Emma Baker and grandmother, Birdie E. Miller Cnopius. The Cnopius family owned 3,442 acres of agricultural land in Santa Rosa.
- 1965- The property was purchased by Lester and Arleth Stone.
- 1984- Stone Farm was purchased by the City of Santa Rosa.
- 1988- The Cultural Heritage Board registered Stone Farm, aka Miller Ranch, as a historic landmark.
- 1989- The City of Santa Rosa applied for a grant under Proposition 70 but did not receive funding.
- 2005- The Laguna de Santa Rosa Foundation leased the 4 acres surrounding the historic buildings and is developing plans for their rehabilitation, as well as a new environmental education center.
